

Dear Sirs:

I wish to vehemently object to the current "Broadcast Flag" rule which the FCC is considering. It's adoption would signal that the current FCC board has abandoned it's mandated role of protecting the public airways to pander to special interests who wish to use public property for private gain.

It sends a clear message that the current FCC leadership has arrogantly overstepped it's bounds by dictating copyright issues in a non-public forum and is only interested in selling out to corporate high bidders.
